Automotive

CBI member Bentley Motors announced the official opening of its flagship showroom for Hong Kong in Kwun Tong and its after-sale service centre in Tsuen Wan, with Kam Lung Motor Group becoming the officially authorised Bentley dealership in Hong Kong. As the first Bentley showroom with a Mulliner Commissioning Suite in Asia, the new Hong Kong showroom, covering a floor area of about 900 square metres, was designed by a British team with a modern, luxurious, young, and elegant style. With time-honoured craftsmanship heritage, Mulliner is now customising the exclusive Bentley vehicles for Bentley enthusiasts around the world. In the future, Bentley customers in Hong Kong will be able to design their own cars according to their personal preference in the Mulliner Commissioning Suite. On the occasion of the opening ceremony, the Continental GT3-R, the fastest Bentley sports car, landed in Hong Kong for the first time, which, limited to 300 units, will undoubtedly be hotly contended for by local car enthusiasts. In support of the new showroom opening, the after-sales service centre of Bentley Hong Kong in Tsuen Wan was also opened to provide a variety of services authorised by Bentley. The central reception and service areas are equipped with air conditioning around the clock, in addition to state-of-the-art professional repair equipment and a premium rest area. All the technicians have been officially certified to provide meticulous services for Bentley owners and enable the cars to maintain optimal power and efficiency. Bentley Hong Kong is pleased to provide comprehensive professional services, including repair, maintenance, original parts supply, and 24-hour emergency service.

CBI member The London Taxi Company announced the start of construction work to build its new research, development, and assembly site in Ansty, Coventry. This important milestone comes soon after the company's £250 million investment project was announced in the presence of the Prime Minister and Boris Johnson earlier in the year. The new facility is the first greenfield development of any Chinese automotive manufacturer in the U.K., demonstrating parent company Geely's ongoing commitment to the country and West Midlands region. The investment will create up to 1,000 direct jobs and support a further 500 roles in the local supply chain. The 37,000-square metre building will be constructed by main contractors Winvic and comprises a 31,000-square metre production facility, which will make the next generation of the iconic London Black Cabs from 2017 and other forthcoming models, as well as 6,000 square metres of office space. Ansty will be Geely's U.K. base for ultra-low emission vehicle research and development (R&D) and the London Taxi Company's global headquarters. Reflecting The London Taxi Company's values of sustainability, the Ansty site will have an 'Excellent' BREEAM rating and be 'A' for energy performance. The building will include 850 square metres of photovoltaic solar panels and 20 electric vehicle charging points. It will also harvest waste heat from compressed air systems to warm the air and provide hot water, while rainwater will be collected for use in all of the facility's toilets. The London Taxi Company's recently appointed Chairman, Carl-Peter Forster, said, "The Geely group strategy to invest in ultra-low emission technology is progressing well across all its brands. The London Taxi Company and its new products are central to that approach, and our investment here demonstrates continued commitment to the U.K. automotive sector and helps to underpin the world-class engineering capabilities which can be accessed in this country." Aviation CBI member Boeing released its annual China Current Market Outlook (CMO), projecting a demand in the country for 6,330 new airplanes over the next 20 years. Boeing estimated the total value of those new airplanes at US$950 billion. Randy Tinseth, Vice President of Marketing, Boeing Commercial Airplanes, said, "Despite the current volatility in China's financial market, we see strong growth in the country's aviation sector over the long term. Over the next 20 years, China's commercial airplane fleet will nearly triple: from 2,570 airplanes in 2014 to 7,210 airplanes in 2034, with more than 70% of these deliveries accommodating growth." Banking and financial services

CBI member HSBC, in its 2015 interim results, highlighted how China's 'One Belt, One Road' initiative, together with the creation of the Asian Infrastructure Investment Bank, led by China but now with 57 founding member states, is planned to create opportunities for infrastructure investment coupled with green technology on a massive global scale. HSBC's presence along the trade corridor, as well as at both ends, places it in a strong position to partner with participating firms. As investment grows, this will also accelerate the use of the Renminbi as a global currency, an area where HSBC is the leading international bank. Read more here.

Consumer goods

CBI member Philips released its results for the second quarter of 2015, reporting that in its Consumer Lifestyle business, through its customer-centric innovation approach, the company successfully launched a high-performance range of rice cookers in China with 30% faster time-to-market. This locally relevant value proposition drove strong customer preference, resulting in a four-point market share increase since the launch. Philips also posted double-digit growth in Oral Healthcare, expanding market share in North America, China, and Europe. Its strategic focus on innovation was illustrated by the positive reception in North America, China, and Europe for its new Philips Sonicare toothbrushes as well as the Sonicare AirFloss Pro. Read more here.

Education

CBI member Cheung Kong Graduate School of Business \(CKGSB\) announced that 37 MBA students from Columbia Business School (CBS) had arrived in Beijing in late August to start their one-week exchange module at CKGSB. During the trip, they will discover what makes the Chinese business environment tick and understand the strategic differences between economies in the East and West as well as the idiosyncrasies of the Chinese market. As a thought leader in Chinese market research and analysis and by leveraging original research, faculty and staff at CKGSB will facilitate an exclusive peek under the hood of the Chinese business engine for their CBS visitors through a variety of lectures, case studies, and company visits. The 2015 CBS MBA week-long programme is customised to facilitate global MBA programme students learning about China's business model, partner cooperation processes, and strategic leadership. In an increasingly global economy, the course's mission is to develop top talents from around the world to adapt to changing business needs back home. Read more here.

CBI member Glasgow Caledonian University \(GCU\) announced that it had welcomed 77 students from China, Canada, the U.S., and Ghana to its inaugural University-wide International Summer School. The students will be studying in GCU's three Schools in subjects including Digital Media in Society, Global Finance, Computing Science, and Healthcare Management as well as taking part in a packed programme of cultural activities, such as tours of Glasgow, Edinburgh, Fort William, and Loch Lomond and enjoying a ceilidh. Susan McGiffen, Director of Admissions and International Partnerships, said, "We are delighted to launch our 2015 International Summer School and to welcome students from around the world to join us and for a packed study and student experience programme. We aim to offer a taste of university study alongside the opportunity to explore Scotland with GCU staff and students as academic hosts and mentors. We are already looking at plans to expand for next year, and we hope that next year's summer school will be even bigger, offering innovative programmes, and a fantastic summer study experience at our three vibrant campuses in Glasgow, London, and New York. GCU's inaugural 2015 International Summer School runs until August. Read more here.

CBI member King's College London rose from its 59th position in the world in 2014 to 55th in the 2015 international league table of higher education institutions produced by Shanghai Jiao Tong University. King's remains in 7th position in the U.K. Commenting on this year's results, Professor Ed Byrne, President and Principal of King's, said, "I am delighted that King's has risen another four places in the Shanghai Jiao Tong world rankings. In my first year at King's, we have consulted widely on a new international strategy, led by our Vice-Principal (International) Dr. Joanna Newman, and have an ambitious plan to invest in new activities and strengthen existing partnerships. I am sure this will pay dividends in the future." Read more here.

CBI member The University of Birmingham announced that a musical fusion of traditional Eastern and Western styles was heard at the University, presented by Chinese musical scholar Professor Haisheng Li. Professor Li, from the Guangxi Arts Institute in Nanning, is a master of the di (Chinese bamboo flute), the xiao (Chinese vertical bamboo flute), and the xun (a clay-based, ancient instrument). Professor Li is also the Secretary-General of the Guangxi Traditional Orchestral Music Association. Professor Li treated the audience in Birmingham to a performance of his one-of-a-kind, handmade instruments—that are inspired by Chinese classical arts—and include improvisations with their Western counterparts. CBI member The University of Nottingham announced that 10 British students from the Generation U.K.

Nottingham-Ningbo Summer School have been gaining work experience in a Chinese business through a product design internship in Ningbo. The five-day internship, which was with the company Oulin Kitchen Utensils, was part of a new three-week summer school jointly organised by Generation U.K. – China and the University of Nottingham Ningbo China (UNNC). The aim of the internship was to provide students with an understanding of Chinese business and industry. In addition to students from the University of Nottingham, other students involved in the programme came from the universities of Oxford, Cambridge, Aberdeen, Imperial College, and King's College London, as well as a further 10 local students from UNNC. Generation U.K. – China, which is run by the British Council, aims to help students from the U.K. boost their employability, enhance their long-term job prospects, and develop a global mindset through study and work experience opportunities in China. During their five-day internship with Oulin, a leading Chinese kitchen utensil brand, the students visited different company departments, including the marketing department, international department, and design department. The students were also grouped into several small teams in order to work on a project focusing either on a U.K. promotion plan for Oulin, or new innovation ideas for existing products. At the end of the week, each group submitted a proposal and presented their project to an audience of Oulin executives. Sarina Liu, Development Manager at UNNC and organiser of the week's activities, said, "As one of China's most active areas of private enterprise, Ningbo's economic transformation is highly representative of China's move from 'Made in China' to 'Created in China'. Oulin has been at the forefront of this transformation. We hope the British students, coming to China for the first time can feel the fusion of Chinese and Western business cultures within this vibrant business and cultural environment." Professor Chris Rudd, Pro-Vice-Chancellor for Business Engagement at the University of Nottingham, said, "I am delighted by the positive feedback we have received from both the participating students and Oulin. This internship not only gave the students the chance to gain professional experience in the context of China and its business culture, but it also provided Oulin with the opportunity to learn more about U.K. customers. The University of Nottingham Ningbo China is a pioneer for China-U.K. relations and successful programmes such as the Generation U.K. - Nottingham Ningbo Summer School are an excellent way to help students gain knowledge of Chinese business practices and culture, improve their employability, and ultimately create new links between China and the U.K."

Energy

CBI member BP released its results for the second quarter of 2015, reporting that its new technology-advantaged purified terephthalic acid plant at Zhuhai in China is now fully commissioned and operational. Read more here.

CBI member Shell signed an agreement to sell its 75% stake in Tongyi Lubricants to Huo's Group and The Carlyle Group. Subject to regulatory approvals, the transaction is expected to be completed by the end of 2015 or early next year. Tongyi, a joint venture between Shell and Huo's Group, is a prominent Chinese lubricants supplier with blending plants in Beijing, Xianyang in Shaanxi province, and Wuxi in Jiangsu province. Shell acquired its 75% stake from Huo's Group in 2006 and became the number one international lubricants supplier in China by share of supply, a position it still holds. Carlyle's equity investment for the transaction will come from Carlyle Asia Partners IV. Read more here.

Engineering

CBI member GKN announced that its GKN Powder Metallurgy division agreed to form a joint venture with Bazhou Hongsheng Industrial Co. Ltd., located in Bazhou, Hebei province. The new venture plans to manufacture international grade ferrous powders and will be the first international grade powder producer in China. A Chinese merger-control review has been filed and other necessary approvals are being sought. Read more here.

Flight services

CBI member British Airways announced that it had put ex-England footballer and TV pundit Gary Lineker in its First class hot seat for an exclusive quick-fire Q&A video ahead of the new English Premier League season, which kicked off on 08 August. British Airways flies from mainland China 19 times per week in the summer schedule to the award-winning Heathrow Terminal 5. From Heathrow football fans have easy access into central London to catch the big London teams like Chelsea and Arsenal and smooth connections onto British Airways' extensive flight network, so it's easy to visit the footballing cities of Manchester and Newcastle and soak up the atmosphere of game day with the locals. Gary Lineker, the former Tottenham, Barcelona, and England striker has given his tips for who will win what in 2015/16, and has his say on the summer's biggest signings. Watch his exclusive predictions on Youku here.

CBI member Heathrow Airport Limited released its traffic and business commentary for July 2015, reporting that passenger volumes to China were up 13.7%. Read more here.

CBI member Devro announced that it is investing around £1 million in one of its Scottish plants and has booked a near 11% rise in half-year underlying profits. The company signalled its restructuring in Scotland, which reduced the workforce across its Moodiesburn and Bellshill factories by around 130 to 400 last year, had been completed. It is now investing in Bellshill to upgrade existing lines and increase capacity and efficiency there. Chief Executive Peter Page pointed out the company has spent around £30 million in Scotland since 2008 and remains committed to manufacturing there. Mr. Page said, "We are making over £1 million of investment in Bellshill this year to continue to upgrade and modernise technology. It is on the lines we have to improve output and efficiency." Mr. Page also highlighted that a number of Scottish staff have travelled to China to advise on training for the 200 employees Devro is hiring for a factory it is building near Shanghai.

CBI member Diageo announced that Chinese Ambassador to the U.K. Liu Xiaoming paid a visit to its headquarters and held discussions with CEO Ivan Menezes on enhancing cooperation between the two sides. Ambassador Liu commended Diageo's efforts in promoting Chinese liquor brands. Read more here.

Hospitality

CBI member InterContinental Hotels Group \(IHG\) released its results for the first half to 30 June 2015, reporting that it opened 2k rooms (eight hotels) in Greater China, including its first two HUALUXE Hotels and Resorts in Yangjiang and Nanchang, as it continues to leverage its market leading scale to add four more hotels than its nearest international competitor. IHG's pipeline passed 200 hotels for the first time, as room signings grew over 20% year-on-year to 9k rooms (31 hotels), securing the 1,300 room Holiday Inn Kunming in the second quarter. CBI member Huawei has made a contribution of £956 million to the U.K.'s GDP over the last three years

Huawei's total contribution to UK GDP, 2012-2014

Source: Oxford Economics

(2012-2014) and currently supports 7,400 jobs directly and through its supply chain. The figures are among those found in an economic impact study commissioned by Huawei and conducted by Oxford Economics. It is the first time Huawei has had its economic impact in any country independently audited. The impact study also assessed Huawei's progress in reaching its target of spending £1.3 billion in the U.K. over the five years from 2013-2017, split equally between investment and procurement. Based on its analysis of Huawei's activities, Oxford Economics concludes that, "Huawei is on track to meet this spending commitment." The five-year spending commitment was made in September 2012 by Huawei's founder and CEO, Ren Zhengfei, in a meeting with U.K. Prime Minister David Cameron. Since 2012, Huawei has acquired the Cambridge-based Internet of Things company Neul, opened a new research and development (R&D) centre in Bristol, helped roll out 4G and broadband networks across the U.K. for customers including EE and BT, begun pioneering the development of 5G technologies, and increased its U.K. workforce from 781 to 1,030 people. The company now has a presence at 15 locations across the U.K. Huawei's total contribution to U.K. GDP grew by an average of 23.7% annually between 2012-2014, according to the impact study. Over that time, it sourced goods and services from suppliers based in 70% of the U.K.'s postcode areas, and it made a positive contribution to GDP and employment in all of the U.K.'s regions. Insurance

CBI member American International Group \(AIG\) launched a sweeping initiative to expand access to life insurance for Chinese-American consumers in the U.S. As part of AIG's blueprint for building further on the transformative growth strategy announced in 2014 for its product distribution network, the carrier has begun recruiting several hundred additional life insurance agents to address the needs of Chinese-Americans and is implementing an array of other measures to augment its service to them. AIG's research indicates Chinese consumers value permanent life insurance. The carrier believes its Quality of Life...Insurance[®] product suite—known as “life insurance you don't have to die to use” and centred on flexible solutions designed to address multiple consumer needs—resonates strongly in the Chinese-American market. The Chinese-American market already accounts for a significant percentage of AIG's U.S. life business. With the opportunity to build on this success, AIG is making tactical investments to serve this community better than ever before. The prototype AIG Financial Network office, specifically designed in consideration of the Chinese-American consumer, will be based in Pasadena, California. Read more here.

CBI member Clifford Chance announced that it had advised The Carlyle Group on its joint acquisition with Huo's Group of Shell's 75% stake in Tongyi Lubricants, a joint venture between Shell and Huo's Group. The deal is subject to regulatory approvals and is expected to be completed by the end of 2015 or in early 2016. Read more here.

CBI member Freshfields Bruckhaus Deringer announced that it had advised Hang Seng Bank on the proposed establishment of a joint venture fund management company in Qianhai, in conjunction with Shenzhen Qianhai Financial Holdings Co. Ltd. Under the terms of the joint venture, which is subject to regulatory approvals, Hang Seng will be the majority shareholder—marking the first ever use of Supplement X to the Mainland and Hong Kong Closer Economic Partnership Agreement (CEPA). Supplement X to CEPA allows qualified Hong Kong-funded financial institutions to set up joint venture fund management companies in China and take a majority stake. The primary scope of the joint venture will include fund sales, fund raising, and asset management services. Read more here.

Media

CBI member BBC Worldwide announced the appointment of Kelvin Yau as General Manager, Greater China, with effect from 17 August 2015. In his new role, Kelvin will oversee BBC Worldwide's channel and content distribution, local production, affiliate distribution, and brand development activities across Greater China, including Hong Kong, Taiwan, and mainland China. He will also be responsible for BBC Worldwide's format and brand licensing in these territories. Kelvin joins BBC Worldwide from The Economist Group, where he was Managing Director, mainland China and Taiwan. Prior to The Economist Group, he held positions at Euromoney Publications and IR-VONline.com. Commenting on Kelvin's appointment, David Weiland, EVP for BBC Worldwide Asia, said, "We are very excited to have someone of Kelvin's calibre to join BBC Worldwide. He brings with him an excellent track record in business development to the team. Kelvin's vast experience will also serve as a catalyst for BBC's continual growth in the highly dynamic Greater China market." Kelvin said, "BBC Worldwide has accomplished tremendous success in building the reach and reputation of BBC overseas. As an avid admirer of the British creativity advocated by BBC, I am looking forward to joining BBC Worldwide and helping promote its quality content across Greater China." Kelvin will be based in Beijing. Read more here.

CBI member UBM announced that the 15th Shanghai International Children Baby Maternity Industry Expo (CBME China 2015), organised by UBM China, a UBM Asia company, opened its doors to domestic and international buyers on 22-24 July at the Shanghai New International Expo Centre. The event featured 2,836 brands from 2,147 suppliers across 205,000 square metres of exhibition space. This year, CBME China launched its Charity Programme. In cooperation with over 40 countries, a charity sales went on during CBME China. Proceeds from the sales will be used to support children with autism. Read more here.

Printing

CBI member Fuji Xerox announced that the Fuji Xerox Solution Fair was officially launched in Xi'an in June. At the fair, Fuji Xerox is bringing about successful applications and solutions that can create value for more customers in Tier 2 cities in order to satisfy the rapidly growing needs of enterprises for colour and efficient office solutions. The Solution Fair will last four months and will be successfully rolled out in Suzhou, Nanjing, Chengdu, Chongqing, etc.

Fuji Xerox also announced that Fuji Xerox (China) Ltd. and Hangzhou Dianzi University's Digital Media and Art Design College had successfully held a workshop on colour standardisation management of digital printing under the theme of 'The Power of Standardisation', marking the two partners' first activity after their cooperation to establish the inaugural laboratory for the standardisation of digital printing in China. In the workshop, experts delivered keynote speeches on topics such as the current situation and the future of the standardisation of digital printing, colour standardisation management, new applications of Fuji Xerox's 5th Colour Dry Ink, etc.

Professional services

CBI member PwC, as the Accounting Consultation Service Support Supplier for the 2022 Beijing Winter Olympic Games Bid Committee, witnessed and participated in Beijing's successful bid. During the bidding process, PwC provided the Bid Committee with budgetary planning and other related financial services, tapping into its expertise to draft a vigorous, pragmatic, and thrifty budget plan. Zhou Xing, PwC China and Hong Kong Diversity Leader, was selected to present on finance issues. She introduced Beijing's ambitious mission and the financial support behind the budget plan to the International Olympic Committee in Lausanne, Switzerland. This demonstrated Beijing's strengths and suitability to host the Winter Olympics. The 2022 Winter Olympics, jointly hosted by Beijing and Zhangjiakou, will be another top-level global sports event for China, building on the success of the 2008 Beijing Olympic Games and the 2014 Youth Olympic Games in Nanjing. PwC has a long history of supporting the Olympics. It was the Auditing Service Support Supplier for the 2007 Special Olympics in Shanghai, the Accounting Service Supplier for Beijing 2008, the Financial and Auditing Service Supplier for the 2011 Summer Universiad in Shenzhen, and the Financial Consultation Service Supplier for the 2014 Youth Olympic Games in Nanjing.
